STATE DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

ELECTION MONDAY AUG. 20, 1901.

FOR GOVERNOR,

JOHN YOUNG BROWN,

of Henderson.

FOR LIEUT. GOVERNOR,

M. C. ALFORD,

of Lexington.

FOR ATTORNEY GENERAL,

JACK HENDRICKS,

of Flemingsburg.

FOR AUDITOR,

L. C. NORMAN,

of Boone.

FOR TREASURER,

H. S. HALE,

of Mason.

FOR REGISTER OF LAND OFFICE,

G. S. SWANGO,

of Woollo.

FOR SUT. OF PUBLIC INSTRUCTION,

ED. PORTER THOMPSON, of Owen.

FOR CLERK OF COURT OF APPEALS,

A. ADAMS,

of Harrison.

THE REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION is in session at Lexington today.

The purpose will have a gloomy feel of it when John Young Brown is called to the floor.

Had much as your old poster would under the new Constitution your click-ets, ducks, turkeys, crows, guinea-birds, dogs, cats, and possibly even are taxed.

The State Convention didn't embrace the new Constitution, and it was the only chance. Before another State Convention, the n. c. will have climbed the golden stair.

Can H. M. McCreary will probably be called to the floor for the Senate from the county. That should settle the question, as the county has no better chance to place.

BEWILDERING AT ELECTIONS.

The new Constitution provides that only one election be held in a year, and that all officers, from President of the United States down to town trustee, except Congressmen, be elected on that same day. There are at least thirty of these, and hereafter you can surely count on two political parties, which will each have a candidate. Three times thirty are ninety. Think of it, ninety candidates at one election! Do you think there is no danger of confusion?

THE SUB TREASURY OPPOSED.

America, a Chicago publication, says that "Governor J. M. Thompson, Mississippi, who is himself a farmer, has written a letter to the solicitation of members of the Farmers' Alliance in his State of the sub-treasury plan which has taken so strong a hold on the minds of the back-country farmers, who point out that if a farmer shall deposit his cotton or other crop in a government warehouse and receive 80 per cent of its value, the chances are that he will never be able to redeem it and that consequently this accommodation from the Government will not limit very many. As the plan has already reached to enormous dimensions among the farmers, the popularity which it has gained with them must ever be checked by the fact that it is a curious business to have the courage to spend his mind fully in regard to the future of his country.

FOR CLEVELAND.

The Louisville Times comments as heretofore set forth on the failure of Julius Tarvin's resolution which was not introduced until the Convention was on the eve of adjourning after a four days session.

The anti-Cleveland papers are wagging their tails over the fate of the Tarvin resolution indorsing Mr. Cleveland.

It is only a whistling to keep their coups up. There was nothing in the convention of the Kentucky Democrats as apparent as the fact that Cleveland is their prime favorite. His name excited more enthusiasm than ever Mr. Brown's.

THE TICKET.

The nominations for State officers, made by the convention at Louisville, last week, are good ones, without exception. John Young Brown, for Governor, was a most excellent selection. Personally we prefer Mr. Clay, owing to his several and close relations to Madison county, but considering the State at large, Mr. Brown is as able and available a man as could have been found. His ability, firmness, eloquence and dignity made him thousands of warm friends wherever he went. Like the great Cleveland, he has his well digested opinions, and fearlessly expresses them, wherever and whenever occasion demands. His majority will be 30,000.

STATE DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION.

The Convention convened on Wednesday and adjourned on Saturday. The officers, whose names appear at the head of our column, were nominated. Mr.

Brown on the 13th ballot, Mr. Clay being at that time his only opponent. Clearly was the first to succeed, Mr. Brown, on the 12th ballot, the vote stood, Brown, 556; Clay, 351; Hardin, 248; Gov.

Hardin then withdrew, and during the CONVENTION ECHOES.

A number of the leading papers of the State have given some strong reasons for why the new work should not be undertaken by the people.—Kentucky State Journal.

Hon. L. W. Lasing was in town Monday, and distributed a large number of copies of the proposed new Constitution.

It looked very much like the pamphlet was being taken to the hands of its enemies, but those receiving it will surely give it a careful reading.—Home County Record.

Under our law as it stood before the Constitution now proposed, cattle of the value of $50, the growing crop, articles manufactured for family use, all the poetry, music, and the provision on hand for family use were exempt from taxation. The new Constitution now proposes to change all this.—Lexington

Examiner.

Some time ago it looked as if the new Constitution would be badly defeated, but at this time there is but little doubt of its success. However, there is nothing to be done except to wait and see what the result will be.—Lexington Herald.

The miserable failure at revising the Constitution should be strongly condemned by the people. The old one, as it is, is preferable, but its objectionable features can be amended in a short time, and an immense amount of cost and trouble will be prevented.—Lexington

Examiner.

Mr. Alford, for Lieutenant Governor, had no opposition, and was nominated by acclamation.

For Auditor, James Blackburn, of

Woodford, Chas. S. Green, of Louisville,
